POLLARD TO SPEAK HERE ON MONDAY BOARD TO DISCUSS PETITION TO-DAY

Will Close His Campaign With Final Rally at Belvidere Hall.

John Garland Pollard will close his campaign for the office of Attorney-General with an address at Belvidere Hall on Monday night at 8:30 o'clock under the auspices of the John Garland Pollard Club of Richmond. Mr. Pollard had announced a speaking engagement at Emporia on Monday at 2 o'clock. Members of the club secured the consent yesterday for a final rally in Richmond on the night preceding the election. William H. Adams, president of the club, will have charge of the arrangements.

Haddon to Practice Law.
When Judge Samuel W. Williams was elected Attorney-General four years ago he continued as his chief clerk T. Gray Haddon, who held that position under Major William A. Anderson. Mr. Haddon is a member of the City Council from Clay Ward, and is well known and popular in Richmond.

Mr. Haddon was last year, passing with flying colors, and the announcement was made yesterday that he expects, whatever he be the result of the election, to leave the Attorney-General's office on January 1 and enter on the practice of law in the office of Attorney L. O. Wendenburg. Mr. Haddon was out of the city last night, and no statement could be secured from him.

Judge Williams and Mr. Cumming met at Kenbridge, in Lunenburg County, to-morrow for a joint debate. Mr. Pollard has announced the following speaking dates for the remainder of the campaign:
Friday night, August 1, Harrisonburg.
Saturday noon, August 2, Fisher's Hill.
Saturday night, August 2, Winchester.
Monday 2 P. M., August 4, Emporia.
Monday 8:30 P. M., August 4, Belvidere Hall, Richmond.

HAD TO ABANDON TRIP DOWN RIVER

Howitzers' Excursion Broken Up Because of Delayed Arrival of Pocahontas.

Delayed down the James River for more than two hours because of a defective boiler, the Old Dominion steamer Pocahontas, which was to leave Richmond until 10:15 o'clock last night, causing members of the Richmond Howitzers and hundreds of their friends great disappointment because their scheduled moonlight excursion was broken up.
Scores of pretty girls and their escorts, with many of the latter in full dress uniform of the Howitzers, journeyed to the Old Dominion Dock shortly before 9 o'clock ready to spend the evening on the decks of the Pocahontas and anticipating a jolly trip. Their disappointment was more than when it was announced that the Pocahontas had met with a mishap and would not arrive in port until an hour too late to make the excursion.
Lieutenant James C. Pollard, of the Howitzers, expressed deep regret over the necessary abandonment of the excursion. He said the question of making the excursion at a later date will be considered.

Officials of the steamship company said the damage to the boiler tubes of the Pocahontas was trifling and could be repaired in a short time.

MARTIN IS HONORED KOEHLER HITS BACK

BY CITY COMMITTEE AT GOVERNOR MANN

Retiring Democratic Chairman Given Handsome Present of Silver Platters.

ELECTION KNIVES BURIED

Officers and Polling Places of August Primary Are Announced.

The meeting of the City Democratic Committee last night in Murphy's Hotel turned into a love feast for Major Miles M. Martin, the retiring chairman, in which the amenities of the recent municipal election were buried under mutual pledges of good-will and friendship. The committee attested its regard for Major Martin in the shape of two handsome silver platters, appropriately inscribed with testimonials of esteem and appreciation. The spirit of the meeting was well expressed in Major Martin's reply to the presentation speech.

"I can assure you," said he, "that I leave my place on the City Democratic Committee with no ill-will or bad feeling toward any member of this body. Each one of you will always find in me a friend ready to assist you in any possible manner, and I shall always remember with warmth my association in the work of this committee. I have differed on many questions with every one of you at one time or another, but I can promise you that the differences leave nothing save a feeling of respect for your opinions."

Handsome Silver Service.
The silver pieces, one huge platter and two smaller dishes, bore the following inscription: "Presented to the Hon. Miles M. Martin by the City Democratic Committee upon his retirement as their chairman after five years of faithful service. Richmond, Va., 1913."

The gift was presented during the course of a luncheon by W. B. Jennings, of Clay Ward, chairman of the committee named to select the officers. After Mr. Jennings, several members of the committee took occasion to express their regard for Major Martin, and to voice the regret of the committee upon his retirement. James H. Price, recently elected to fill out the expired term of Major Martin as chairman, occupied the chair last night. Election officers were named as follows:

10,000 Men

business and professional men, farmers and laborers of Michigan turned out at 5 o'clock in the morning of "Bee Day" to improve the roads of the State. Mayors of the cities shoveled gravel all day, and the millionaire worked side by side with the day laborer. Whole towns were deserted, and in Presque Isle County, which five years ago refused to adopt the county and township road system, turned out in full force, doing as much township road system, turned out in full force, doing as much estimated that in one day nearly 300 miles of graded highway was completed. This is a demonstration of true progress, and State Executive Sharply Assailed by Commissioner of Agriculture.

AMBITION TO RULE OR RUIN

Candidate Resents Governor's Defense of United Agricultural Board.

In an interview sharply calling Governor Mann to task for alleged activity in the approaching State elections, George W. Koehler, candidate for re-election as State Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration, yesterday replied to a statement from the Governor printed in The Times-Dispatch relative to the United Agricultural Board. The commissioner credits Governor Mann with the desire to "rule or ruin in all matters pertaining to the Department of Agriculture," and declares that the United Agricultural Board was created when the Commissioner of Agriculture to gratify selfish demands.

Several weeks ago an afternoon newspaper published an article ridiculing the United Agricultural Board and Governor Mann's connection with that institution. This article was embodied in a circular sent out by Mr. Koehler with his campaign literature, and aroused the resentment of the Governor. The interview with the Governor which called for the reply printed below, was not so much an attack on Mr. Koehler's candidacy for re-election as a defense of the United Agricultural Board and a statement of what it has accomplished in farm demonstration work.

Mr. Koehler's Response.
Mr. Koehler gave out the following statement in reply to the Governor: "Never in the history of Virginia has the Governor of the State undertaken to use the power and prestige of his office to defeat a State officer for election simply as a punishment for his refusal to sacrifice the usefulness of the Department of Agriculture and the best interest of the farmers of the State to gratify an ambition to rule or ruin in all matters pertaining to the Department of Agriculture. His object from the very beginning of his administration has been to destroy the State Department of Agriculture and to turn its funds over to the United Agricultural Board (composed in part of nonresidents of the State) to be used and spent according to his dictation, regardless of the views of the Commissioner of Agriculture or of the State Board of Agriculture. It has been made plain that he could not use the present Commissioner of Agriculture, and therefore is now seeking to secure my defeat."

"My course in regard to the United Agricultural Board, as well as my discharge of the duties imposed upon me as Commissioner of Agriculture, has had in every particular the unanimous approval of the State Board of Agriculture of Virginia, and I defy the veriest hypocrite to show one instance where I have failed to cooperate in any movement for the uplift and betterment of the agricultural interests of this Commonwealth. It is the veriest hypocrisy to say, as Governor Mann does in his interview in The Times-Dispatch, that the Legislature of 1912 reorganized the board, dropping the agricultural character of the board, and Mr. Koehler as its head. The fact is that the Governor's agricultural trust board was practically abolished, except as to demonstration work, as unnecessary, expensive and tending to destroy harmony."

"I cannot believe that the Democrats of Virginia will be influenced by this belated attack on me by the Governor of this State, and I shall not be unfairly held back until the closing days of the campaign, when it is too late for me to get my reply in the country newspapers."

THREE-YEAR-OLD CHILD IS KILLED

Julia Ondrejodich Nearly Decapitated by Passenger Train.

Julia Ondrejodich, three years old, was struck and instantly killed by a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train, near Poplar Springs, about seven miles from Richmond, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated J. S. Crowder, the engineer.

The three small children of John Ondrejodich, an Austro-Hungarian, were gathering pebbles beside the track when the train approached at the rate of nearly sixty miles an hour. None of the children was between the rails, but the little girl was struck by a step as the train passed, cutting off the top of her head and killing her instantly.

Mr. Crowder stated that he had not seen any of the children until the last moment, when the little girl was lying down on her knees, seemed to rise up out of the earth.

SALESMEN COMING BOOST AFFAIR

Local Firms Want Traveling Men Here for "Better Acquaintance Week."

REPLIES ARE COMING FAST

Retail Merchants From All Over South Headed for Richmond.

The large manufacturing, wholesale and jobbing firms of this city, whether connected with the Trade Extension Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce or not, are making arrangements to call in practically their entire staffs of traveling salesmen to pay attention to the thousands of retail merchants who will flock to Richmond during "Better Acquaintance Week," August 11, 12, 13, 14, 15. There is no doubt that the trade fairs, since not only will the trade fairs be drained of the more prosperous and progressive buyers during Richmond's great commercial week, but the presence of the traveling salesmen in the city to negotiate with the visiting buyers will be extremely important.

It is generally recognized that the outlook for "Better Acquaintance Week" is due very largely to the trade-making effects of the two "booster tours" conducted by The Times-Dispatch through North and South Carolina in 1911 and 1912, when members of the leading Richmond firms were enabled to come into personal contact with the buying element of the prosperous South. It is the friends of the "booster tours," who are now preparing to return to the city and come to Richmond for "Better Acquaintance Week." In the future, the "booster tours" will be conducted by the Trade Extension Bureau of the chamber.

Answers Pour In.
Replies from Southern retail merchants to the invitation to attend Richmond's commercial gathering at the office of the Trade Extension Bureau on every mail. Just how keen the interest through the South has been on Richmond's "Better Acquaintance Week" is apparent from the fact that hundreds of merchants who will be unable to attend the affair for one reason or another, have taken the trouble to write their regrets and wish the great week the best success.

It is noticeable that many of those to send regrets are members of the "Retail Merchants' Association of the 'Carline' and many of the retail merchants. Plans for amusing visitors are rapidly multiplying.

Great Reception Planned.
If the prospect of financial profit to see the prospect of financial profit in the approaching commercial week is evident from the zeal with which they are entering into the problem of entertaining and caring for the comfort of the thousands of visitors expected. Practically all the hotels have expressed a desire to contribute toward the expense of the week, and the Chamber of Commerce is now endeavoring to secure the services of their hostesses for the pleasure of the retail merchants. Plans for amusing visitors are rapidly multiplying.

The executive committee of the Trade Extension Bureau are carried out, not a single minute of the week will hang heavy on the hands of the visitors. A huge reception committee, which will probably number almost 200 men, is shortly to be appointed and assigned work. This committee will be composed of the heads of the firms in the Trade Extension Bureau, the Chamber of Commerce, and the various business organizations. Committees will be on hand to meet and to give the visitors the glad hand when they disembark from the railway cars.

The executive committee of the Trade Extension Bureau consists of W. B. Broadbent, chairman; W. T. Dabney, secretary-treasurer; J. T. Palmatier, A. H. Felthaus, Alvin M. Smith and E. B. Starnes. The firms represented in the bureau and responsible for the unprecedented business movement about to be launched are:

GOVERNOR RISES TO DEFEND BOARD

Sums Up Record of Work Done by United Agricultural Body.

Deeply stirred by Commissioner Koehler's attack on the United Agricultural Board, of which the head of the State government is chairman, Governor Mann yesterday gave to a reporter for The Times-Dispatch an interview summing up the work of the board in rebuttal of the assertions made by opponents that the United Agricultural Board is a useless drain on the State's finances. In brief, the Governor produces a record of the progress accomplished under the direction of the board, showing that fifty counties in the State have joined with the United Agricultural Board in employing farm demonstrators, that 3,000 men and 2,500 boys have enlisted in practical agricultural training under the board's direction, and that between 600 and 700 girls have learned the art of tomato canning through means placed in their way by the board.

The Governor's Statement.
Governor Mann had this to say in defense of the United Agricultural Board:

"A short statement of what is being done in the demonstration work just at this time may prove interesting. There are now fifty-one counties in the State where salaries are paid as follows: one-half by the county in which the demonstration work is being done, one-fourth by the State, and one-fourth by the United States Department of Agriculture. The amounts paid by the counties and State are by warrants signed by Governor Mann, chairman of the United Agricultural Board, so that the salaries are paid through the United Board."

Three thousand men and 2,500 boys are working under the directions of the several demonstrators, and the work is doing well, but are enthusiastic. "Last fall 3,000 acres of alfalfa were sown under the direction of demonstration work in which many acres will be sown this fall under like direction."

"It is practically impossible to keep up with mixed grasses, but at least 10,000 acres of alfalfa have been sown, and the acreage is constantly increasing. Those in charge of the demonstration work, especially the United States Department of Agriculture, are turning their attention to encouraging our farmers to raise hogs, and at least 250 farmers in Eastern Virginia are fencing their lands and getting ready for this industry.
